Washington—The senate legislative program was the subject of another white house breakfast conference today, attended by eight republican senators.

The conference was the second of its kind within three days for the purpose of agreeing on a concrete program for the remainder of the session, and speeding up legislation to allow congress to adjourn by June 1. Senators attending said the situation was discussed only in a general way.

One of the legislative proposals considered was a farm relief measure. The president expressed the hope that some sort of legislation of an agricultural nature would be enacted, and the discussion turned to the McNary-Haugen farm export corporation bill which the president thus far has declined to support but which is advocated by the department of agriculture and most of the members of the farm bloc.

A Gazette "Rooms for Housekeeping" ad has just rented light housekeeping rooms for Mrs. Hoyer, 320 N. Jackson. The Gazette was invariably given satisfaction. Many Janesville people have found by actual experience that they always make a hit.

Why don't YOU let them help you?

Just step to the phone and call 2500.

That's our ad-taking number.

The house committee, which is investigating similar charges against Representative Zihlman, Republican, Maryland, took up in executive session a study of documentary evidence and also summoned George J. Stettin, former employee of Zihlman, who will go into the Langley charges later.

The charges against the two representatives were developed incidentally during investigation of the Veterans' bureau fraud case by a Chicago grand jury. They subsequently learned of the grand jury here, which exonerated Mr. Zihlman but indicted the Kentucky representative. The house investigation is intended to determine whether the allegations are substantiated and to warrant proceedings looking to the unseating of the accused members.

SHOT MAN FEARING DESERTION, CLAIM

Woman Changes Story After Officers Find Traces of Rum Party.

Chicago—Mrs. Joseph Annan, who yesterday shot and killed Harry Kalstad, 29, formerly of Minneapolis, admitted early today, according to police, that the shooting occurred after Kalstad threatened her with a knife and because he tried to force his attentions upon her as she first said. Killing Kalstad, fearing neighbors might have heard her, Mrs. Annan played Jack records on a phonograph for several hours, police say she told them. Then she called her husband and told him she had shot and surrendered to the police.

Her original story of having shot Kalstad to protect herself was doubted by officers who found evidence of a drinking party in her apartment. She admitted her first story was untrue after being questioned for hours at the scene of the shooting, while detectives displayed the blood-stained garments worn by Kalstad.

She said she had been employed at the time of the shooting and had interest and that they had been acquainted for several months.

SAY COLD STORAGE Fish Are Being Sold as "Fresh"

It has come to the attention of Sanitary Inspector L. J. Woodworth, of the city health department, through the inspection of a cold storage fish store, that in some cases cold storage fish are being sold to the housewives of Janesville for fresh fish.

"When cold storage fish are offered for sale, they are labeled as such," said Inspector Woodworth Friday. "The law requires that the merchant inform the purchaser that the fish are cold storage fish and in no case will they be sold as fresh fish."

"Cold storage fish displayed in the place of fresh fish must be labeled with a sign reading 'Cold Storage Goods' and if not on display, but held in the rear of the store, a placard reading 'Cold Storage Fish' must be placed in the window. Fish must be displayed in a conspicuous place in the store, according to law."

"That is one of the measures I had in mind," Senator Robinson said in the course of his speech, "when I referred to those the senator from Massachusetts wanted to block. I say now the chairman of that committee (Senator Lodge) of the foreign relations committee has effectively and vigorously, by continuing investigation, had delayed legislation. ## NEW YORK JOINS FIGHT ON CHICAGO

State Legislature Opposes the Draining of Great Lakes for City Purposes.

Madison—Another state—New York—has joined in the campaign in opposition to the taking of water from the Great Lakes by the Chicago sanitary district, according to information received today by Attorney General Herman F. Barker. The state legislature of New York has passed a resolution opposing the "draining of water from the lakes," Mr. Barker said.

States now joined in the movement against such procedure are: Minnesota, Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and New York.

After expressing opposition to a measure now pending in congress, which would legalize the diversion of water from the Great Lakes, the New York legislature made the following statement:

"Such diversion, translated into terms of horsepower, would represent approximately one-half million horsepower and would decrease the total amount of power possible of development in the Niagara and St. Lawrence rivers by over 100,000 horsepower. The diversion of water from the Great Lakes for city purposes is a serious detriment to navigation on the Great Lakes."

The official tabulation will be completed this afternoon.

During the morning, announcements from the office of the Kenosha county clerk of an error in the official returns, which put Cooper more than 1,000 votes in the lead, caused much confusion. When it developed that the error was a clerical one, the race for delegates at large, Senator La Follette's men ran for two to one ahead in the rapid flight, while on the democratic side, the men pledged to Governor Walworth, lost the race.

PARKER MOVES "AD" MAILERS TO BLUFF ST.

The mailing and addressing division of the advertising department of the Parker Pen company has been moved out of the main building on South Bluff street. Twelve persons are now employed in the print shop.

The plant is one of the most up-to-date in southern Wisconsin. It includes a huge color press, three automatic presses, several smaller presses, linotype, a huge power paper cutter, automatic folder, stapler and a number of other modern appliances. Color printing, straight printing, booklet work and show cards are turned out by the thousands.

A novel plan has been invented to save postage to foreign countries. Placards are printed on heavy card stock and are signed on each side, thus saving a sheet of cardboard for each poster and many thousands of dollars in postage.

JUDGING SYSTEM ON WIS. BUTTER

Regular Inspections to Improve Quality of Product—Creameries to Aid.

Madison—If better butter is ever made it will be made in Wisconsin, may yet become the rallying cry of every butter-maker and creameryman.

Putting into practice a plan first proposed some 10 years ago, the board of regents of the University of Wisconsin has appointed Ward M. Totman, a native of Grant county, student and later instructor of the dairy school, is already at work on an extensive program looking toward the improvement of the quality of butter produced in the creameries of the state. The idea of co-operation among the creameries is not a new one. According to W. H. Farrington of the dairy department, a movement was started about 10 years ago looking toward the grouping of creameries for the purpose of buying their supplies and marketing their product. Two such centers were formed, one at La Crosse and the other at Chippewa Falls. On account of the war and lack of men to supervise the work, the project was not extended. The scheme was later taken up by Minnesota creameries and has been successfully carried through during the last two years. It is now being developed again in Wisconsin by a representation of the state marketing division.

The appointment of Totman has given opportunity for the addition of a new feature, that of scoring and judging butter at 12 different creamery centers about the state rather than following the practice of having the butter sent here for such examination. In this way the officials expect to enlist the interest not only of butter-makers, but of dairymen as well.

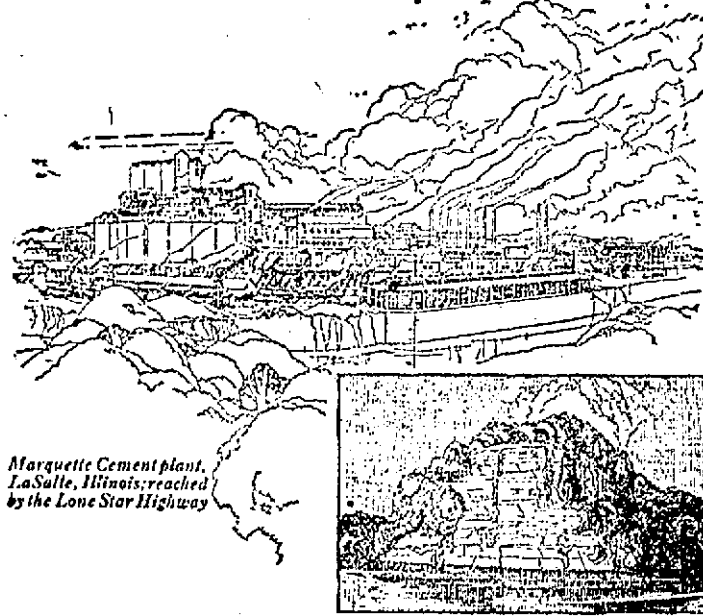

Judges officiating in the monthly butter scoring contests have shown that the butter made in creameries about the state is somewhat variable in quality and also in composition.

Regular Inspections

According to the plan agreed upon by officials of the Wisconsin division of markets, the state dairy and food commission, the Wisconsin Butter-makers' association and the college of agriculture, Totman will inspect the packages of the butter from these creameries at regular intervals throughout the year. In addition, at 12 creamery centers butter from neighboring creameries will be scored and judged by three or more experts and an analysis of each lot of butter made to determine its fat, moisture, and salt content. The quality and composition of the butter from each of the creameries will be discussed with the butter-maker of the creamery, the board of directors and the patrons of the factory.

"One point which we hope to stress," declares Farrington, "is that the price of butter varies directly with the scoring. That means, for instance, that if butter scores 92 and the price is 30 cents, butter which scores 91 will only bring 49 cents, and that which scores 90 will sell at 48 cents. It does not take very long for a creamery churning any considerable amount of butter to save the salary of their butter-maker by improving the quality of their butter to score a point higher. On this basis of payment it will pay tremendously to take a little better care of their cream on the farm."

"Another matter of importance is

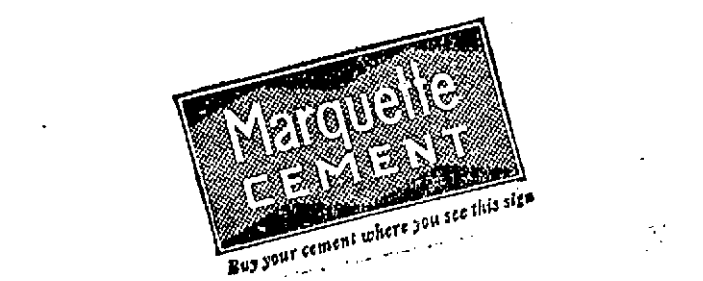

Marquette Cement plant, LaSalle, Illinois, reached by the Lone Star Highway BEAUTIFUL STARVED ROCK—Gibraltar of the Mississippi Valley—what harrowing tales of conflict you could tell! Here LaSalle and Tonti had their stronghold in 1681 (Fort St. Louis). Here, nearly a century later, the last of the Illini took refuge when defeated by the Pottawatomies, only to find their impregnable fortress a death trap—that they had escaped the tomahawk to perish by starvation.

Now industry hums and motor cars roar through the valley where once was heard little but the swish of speeding arrow and stealthy canoe. And the immense Marquette plant is busy day and night, turning out the kind of portland cement that insures buildings and public improvements as sturdy and enduring as this age-old sentinel of the past.

Lutheran Young People Present
 Play—Young people of the Lutheran church entertained more than 100 men and women with a three act play, "Pleasant Wedding Guests," Thursday night, at the church parlors and will present the play again, Friday night.
 The play has a clever plot and was well enacted by the young people who rehearsed for more than a month. Miss Ole Eystad, as the aunt, and Stanley Bjerkness as the uncle, both feeling that they were outcasts as far as the family was concerned, opened a love affair of long ago. The play ends with their wedding which gives its title a novel twist as the aunt and uncle were among the guests who had assembled for the wedding of Louise Overman played by Miss Mary Bakken and Frank Winters, played by Ralph Jersild.

Fred Bjerkness gave a character- istic portrayal of Mr. Overman, the major of the town and Miss Genevieve Jensen was equally convincing as Mrs. Overman. Miss Mae Bjerkness was Fannie Overman and George Hancey as Cecil Overman, the small son in the family both presented finished characterizations.
 The play was enriched by the appearance of the church orchestra which played four selections. Edmund Bjerkness on the cornet and Robert Cullen on the saxophone contributed to the program.
 Proceeds of the play will go into the $500 fund which the Y. P. S. society has pledged toward the new church. Next week it will be presented at the consolidated school on the Edgerton road and in the near future will be given in Brinkman's hall, Atton. Miss Ruth Nygaard and Miss Genevieve Jensen make up the arrangements committee.

Diseases traced to constipation are many
—get permanent relief with Kellogg's Bran

Why does constipation breed other diseases? Because it floods your system with dangerous poisons. And the longer you suffer, the more poisons accumulate. That is why constipation should be relieved at once.

Doctors recommend Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled. They know it brings results because it is ALL bran. And only ALL bran can be 100 percent effective in relieving constipation.

ALL bran—Kellogg's—sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It acts as nature acts. It makes the intestine function naturally and regularly. If eaten regularly, it will bring permanent relief in the most chronic cases of constipation—is guaranteed.

NEW DEPARTMENT AT MOTOR PLANT

A department for assembling roadster bodies has been started in the Chevrolet Motor plant, which no longer will necessitate shipment of this type of body from the plant plant, L. J. Stewart, plant manager, announced Friday.

The roadster assembly department has been installed in the southwest corner of the large factory building. All records for freight shipments from the local plant were smashed in March, with 1,500 carloads of Chevrolet automobiles being sent on their way to their destination. The freight shipments average four and a half cars to the carload, which gives a total, on this basis, of 5,500 cars. These cars, assembled in Janesville, went to various points in the territory supplied by the local plant, which includes all of Iowa, Montana, North and South Dakota, parts of Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska and Wisconsin.

The local plant is operating on a lower daily schedule in April than was first anticipated, with 250 a day about the limit so that the production will come about 6,000 cars.

View Is Optimistic.
Despite the fact that production slowed down during the last week, the local plant produced 6,200 cars in March, an increase over the same month of a year ago of 4,494. The force is the same size.

An optimistic view is held by the Chevrolet company officers, who declare that a week of favorable weather such as prevailed Thursday and Friday will give impetus to the movement of cars. The roads in the northern part of the state are still in an impassable condition.

Grade Baseball League Planned

Organization of a grade school baseball league, such as that conducted here two years ago, will be one of the first activities to be promoted by the Janesville community boys' work secretary here, he stated Friday. Teams will be chosen next week, it is probable, and a schedule of games arranged immediately. The plan is to play the games at the dismissal of school in the evening, and it is expected that the series will be finished before the summer vacation period starts.

Instruction in schools throughout the city is also being planned, and this work will also start next week.

The two camps, Rotunda and Phantom Lake, are holding most attention among summer activities at present. According to the schedule arranged for Phantom, Janesville boys have been assigned the fourth period, from July 20 to August 12. Three periods have been given the Y. M. C. A. at Rotunda camp, the first extending from June 25 to July 5; the second from July 7 to July 17, and the last from July 17 to July 25. The Y. W. C. A. camp will follow.

SPECIAL

Found Not Guilty
of Liquor Charge
in Beloit Court

Ole Geleson, employee of Sam Garafolo, who runs a soft drink parlor in Beloit, was found not guilty of selling liquor to Elmer Brooks, LaFarge, Wis., state prohibition agent, by a jury in the municipal court, Beloit.

The verdict marked the defeat of the state in its first trial of the nine cases where evidence was secured by Brooks and later withdrawn with a stomach pump. Brooks testified that, after having his stomach pumped empty, he went to the Garafolo saloon with Stephen Lawrie of Highland Center, also in the employ of the state prohibition department, and was served a drink of liquor by Geleson. This was denied by the latter.

He afterwards had the liquor pumped out of his stomach and it tested as alcohol, he testified. Lawrie's testimony was to the effect that he purchased a drink from Geleson.

Geleson was defended by A. W. Richter and Joseph Padway, Milwaukee, who made much of the "dishonorable means" used by the state to secure evidence. Brooks was characterized by the defense as "a repulsive, dishonorable human tank."

Found Not Guilty
of Liquor Charge
in Beloit Court

Ole Geleson, employee of Sam Garafolo, who runs a soft drink parlor in Beloit, was found not guilty of selling liquor to Elmer Brooks, LaFarge, Wis., state prohibition agent, by a jury in the municipal court, Beloit.

The verdict marked the defeat of the state in its first trial of the nine cases where evidence was secured by Brooks and later withdrawn with a stomach pump. Brooks testified that, after having his stomach pumped empty, he went to the Garafolo saloon with Stephen Lawrie of Highland Center, also in the employ of the state prohibition department, and was served a drink of liquor by Geleson. This was denied by the latter.

He afterwards had the liquor pumped out of his stomach and it tested as alcohol, he testified. Lawrie's testimony was to the effect that he purchased a drink from Geleson.

Geleson was defended by A. W. Richter and Joseph Padway, Milwaukee, who made much of the "dishonorable means" used by the state to secure evidence. Brooks was characterized by the defense as "a repulsive, dishonorable human tank."

DOROTHY DALTON

in the MORAL SINNER

A STARTLING STORY—A CROOK DRAMA THAT WINDS ITS WAY TO THRILLS AND HAPPINESS.

MISS DALTON, SUPPORTED BY AN ALL STAR CAST, DOES SOME WONDERFUL WORK IN THIS SPLENDID ATTRACTION.

MAT. 2:30; 10 AND 25c. EVE. 7 AND 9; 10 AND 35c.

Here's the amazing motion picture record of the brave voyage around the world of the little 98-foot motor yacht, "Speedjacks."

Braving a thousand dangers of sea and land; facing cannibals and perils of mysterious, uncivilized islands; all gloriously real and more thrilling than any story ever written!

Up to now, few women have ever used a powder so exquisite. Few could afford the price. Now I bring them to you—the finest powders experts can create. They are as fine as vapor, as harmless as dew. And all are fragrant with my favorite perfume. Now the powders used by stage and movie beauties can be used by all who wish.

There are two kinds, light and heavy. I use a cold cream powder with a base like my Youth Cream. It clings and stays. But some like a powder light and fluffy, without the cold cream base. So I had both kinds prepared.

Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Cream Powder—the heavy, clinging powder—sells for $1. Edna Wallace Hopper's Face Powder—the light and fluffy powder—sells for 50 cents. Both come in three shades—white, flesh and brunette.

All drug stores and toilet counters now supply my helps to youth and beauty, and my powders, too. These are the French creations which made me what I am. My Youth Cream—based on fruits. My Facial Youth—my famous hand cleanser. My Hair Youth, which brought my luxuriant hair. My White Youth Clay—the last word in facial clay. My Beauty Book comes with each. I offer them in the hope to bring millions the benefits I got. Powders are incidental. But now you can get them also, and I am very glad for your sake, Edna Wallace Hopper, 536 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago. —Advertisement.

GARDEN PACKETS SHOWN IN STORES

Advance Showing of Seeds Is Indicative of Coming Activity.

This is the season when packages of guaranteed lawn grass seed and envelopes bearing bright colored prints of vegetables and flowers, supposed to illustrate what the contents will grow, are making their appearance in the city stores, for planting in the back yard garden. Attractive as the pictures are, however, they cannot compete with the actual displays of vegetables and fruits with merchants are stocked this week-end.

With the further advance in the season, prices on fresh table vegetables are considerably reduced, except in the case of those shipped from the far south. Most of them now for sale are coming from southern Illinois or Indiana.

Strawberries Back Again
After a week's absence, strawberries, this time the Florida variety, have again appeared, but at slightly higher prices. Pint boxes sell for 40 cents. New Cuba pineapples, the first this season, are showing good quality, have arrived, and may be obtained from most dealers at 25 cents each. Market conditions on other fruit remain the same as during the winter, and no new varieties are expected until the first of this year's crop is ready.

Naval oranges, according to size, sell for 15, 25, and 30 in most shops, while Florida retail for 25 to 35 cents a dozen. The quality of the latter remains as good as any time during the season. Other fruits are: Bananas at 12 cents pound; cranberries, 12 cents pound; apples, 5 to 10 cents pound, according to variety; and grapefruit, 5 to 10 cents each, depending on size.

Vegetables Popular
The vegetable market is the center of trade during the spring months, and with the dozens of varieties now to be obtained, deserves its popularity. Among the kinds that are more abundant this week than before this season are cucumbers at 25 cents each, a 5 cent reduction since last week; asparagus at 15 cents bunch; green beans at 20 cents pound; tomatoes, 25 cents; parsley, 10 cents; rhubarb, two bunches for 25 cents; to 15 cents each; new cabbage, 6 cents pound (2 to 3 cents lower since last week); and new potatoes at 5 cents pound. Peas, though they have been on the market here at intervals during the past two weeks, have for the first time reached a cost low enough to be generally purchased. Merchants this week are selling them between 20 and 25 cents pound. Long radishes are now 5 cents, while 10 cents buys a choice variety of the round kind. Green onions are 10 to 12 cents bunch. Other fresh vegetables include spinach at 12 to 15 to 15 cents; beets, 10 cents; celery, 12 to 15 cents; cauliflower, 20 to 40 cents; green peppers, 7 to 10 cents; head lettuce, 10 to 15 cents, slightly higher; carrots, 12 to 15 cents and chives, 15 cents.

Butter in Another Drop
Old potatoes hold steady at $1 to $1.10 per bushel, or 30 cents peck. Other fall vegetables, rutabagas, carrots and parsnips, sell for 4 to 5 cents pound. A few choice quality Jersey sweet potatoes may also be had. Another reduction in the price of butter has come, and best kinds are now selling down to 42 to 45 cents a reduction of as much as 10 cents pound on some kinds since last week. Eggs remain steady at 21 to 22 cents.

City Motor Truck Off to Milwaukee

The large white motor truck of the street department, bought by the city several years ago, completed its service in that department, Friday, when it was driven to Milwaukee by the city from Joliet, Ill. The Joliet apparatus, acquired at a cost of $1,000 and the trade-in of the old Janesville aerial ladder, will be mounted on the chassis truck, giving the city a powerful, self-raising, motor-driven 75-foot aerial ladder practically as good as new. The cost of this job will be about $1,200, making the total expense in the neighborhood of $2,200.

BELIEVE JOY-RIDERS TOOK NITSCHER CAR

A 1922 Chevrolet sedan, taken from in front of the Nitscher Auto Sales company, 26 North bluff street, about 9 p. m. Friday, was recovered several hours later by Patrolman George Porter, on Hayline street, between North Franklin and North Jackson streets. Apparently, it had been taken by joy-riders, who abandoned it when they had finished their fun.

Theft of a red Buick roadster in Beloit was reported to Janesville police at midnight Thursday.

INSURGENT BLOC WANTED KENYON

Nomination of Dean Stone Disappointing to Many West-

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1923, by Janesville Daily
Gazette.

Senator LaFollette, who insists that he will run independently only if Mr. Coolidge is the victor in the election, is gathering ammunition for his mass attack at the republican national convention in June.

The Wisconsin Primaries

The primaries in Wisconsin, which showed Senator LaFollette victor by a big majority, paves the way for what may become a dramatic situation at the Cleveland convention. The Wisconsin delegates plan to make a drive for a progressive platform, failing in which they will announce their dissent and carry the campaign to the country with Senator LaFollette as their spokesman and candidate.

Ignored Politicians

The naming of an attorney general is but an incident in the fight which is daily widening the breach in the republican party. What might have happened if the president had named Kenyon is of course conjectured, but at no time since the beginning of the present session of congress did the insurgent republicans appear to be as united in their willingness to meet the administration half way as they were in the movement for the appointment of Judge Kenyon. Today they feel as if they have been rebuffed. The president has appointed an able man and one to whom he has personal trust. He ignored the politics of the occasion, which his friends say ought to help him in the long run.

The True Story —OF— Woodrow Wilson

—By David Lawrence

(Copyright 1924 by the George H. Doran Company in the United States, Canada, South America, and elsewhere. All rights reserved. By Current News Features, Incorporated.)

CHAPTER XXVIII.

To one who was an eyewitness in Paris during the peace conference and who later watched at close range the debates in the United States senate over the meaning of the League of Nations nothing could be more contradictory than the two situations. For in Paris it was Woodrow Wilson who was fighting almost the entire allied group in constituting a League of Nations which would not be an interference with the sovereignty of any state, but an advisory body through which all the nations could act independently or jointly if they desired. In the senate, however, the League proposal was hailed as a super-government and a surrender of American sovereignty.

There was a time when the French press criticized Mr. Wilson's refusal to go along with the allied plans for a strong League of Nations, backed by military force, because of a belief that they would not be accepted by the United States. But the United States would certainly support the French militaristic idea. It was interesting, indeed, to see this French press completely out of tune with what the republican party in the United States was actually seeking to accomplish, and it was not until many months after Mr. Wilson returned to America that Europe saw that the republican party was drifting toward a policy of isolation while President Wilson was the true friend of international co-operation. Had Mr. Wilson's position been appraised sooner in Paris, he might have been listened to more sympathetically by the allied world.

Disappointment inevitably followed Mr. Wilson's inability to secure the ratification of the Versailles covenant of the League of Nations but even if he had accepted the reservations proposed by his political opponents, there would always be some question as to what the true value might have been of America's participation in the League in the years immediately following the war. For there developed in the United States a reaction against all things European, and if the United States had entered the League technically as a member, the political situation in America would have prevented, for a few years at least, the exercise by the United States of any considerable influence in European affairs.

The president of the United States possesses great powers of negotiation and co-operation which do not require specific treaty agreements but the temper of the opposition to further co-operation with Europe was such in 1919 that even a simple proposal to permit the United States to assume her place on the reparations commission failed of adoption when asked for apart from the Versailles treaty and as a direct method for making sure that the interests of the United States would be safeguarded in the all important councils of the commission.

Mr. Wilson's mind was set on keeping the constitution of the League of Nations an integral part of the Versailles treaty because he believed that if the treaty settling territorial questions—in which America had a secondary interest—were completed there would be no leverage for the acceptance of an international organization such as the League was intended to be. He rejected all suggestions for a separate conference on the question of an association of nations. He was convinced that the League would never be established if its formation were postponed until after the peace treaty itself was signed.

So far as the United States senate was concerned Mr. Wilson felt that the main issue before it was the acceptance or rejection of the League because in the other portions of the treaty the United States sought no indemnity and had no desires for territorial gain, insisting only upon freedom of commercial opportunity in all newly acquired regions.

No human being, it seems, could have survived the mental strain which rested upon Woodrow Wilson during the peace conference. Oppressed on every side by the demands on his time and aware of the sudden intrigue which had crept into the American organization in an effort to influence him, Mr. Wilson suffered his final breakdown in Paris. There was a time when his illness was so serious that it caused alarm to his household. After the few days of illness Mr. Wilson never seemed the same to his associates. Stung by the criticism that he had compromised too much, Mr. Wilson was adamant to the last days of the conference, refusing to concede anything and siding with the French in an insistence that the Germans be compelled to sign without modification the terms that had been proposed. Even the British were inclined to compromise and permit the Germans to make modifications, but the French would hear none of it and President Wilson, anxious to get back to America to secure the ratification of the treaty, concurred in the French view.

There developed inside the American peace mission distinct differences of opinion. Some of the advisers threatened to resign but fear of the misinterpretation of such a step back home prompted them to keep up the appearance of unity. There was one man who was no longer in the president's confidence—Col. E. M. House. The story of the separation is significant of a strange influence which played its part in the life of Mr. Wilson.

Tomorrow's chapter will deal with the true story of the separation of Colonel House and Mr. Wilson.

COL. GUY D. GOFF SAYS SCAFFE TOLD LIES

Clarkburg, W. Va.—H. P. Scaffe, former department of justice agent, and a recent witness before the Daugherty investigating committee at Washington, made "misleadingly false" statements when he charged that Harry M. Daugherty, Secretary of War, and Col. Guy D. Goff, charged prosecution of the Wright-Martin aircraft cases by inaction. Col. Goff, former assistant attorney general, said in a statement.

"There has never been any unreasonable delay in the prosecution of these cases, and Scaffe knows it," Col. Goff said.

MANY PEOPLE COME TO CITY FOR TRADING NOW

Considerable difference was noted Thursday in the number of people from the surrounding country on the streets of Janesville. The roads have been so bad that most of the people have not been able to reach the city for weeks except under great hardship.

When Stefanow was here someone asked if the "Esquimaux" hibernated like other Arctic animals, and the answer would be that with the present method of not clearing roads a lot of people have to hibernate.
